

Winning the War for Mastery and Talent

To compete in the fast-changing marketplace, educational institutions are focusing on digital transformation to deliver exceptional student experiences. What's often missing, is the understanding that an engaged educator is the key to achieving success. Many institutions are failing to optimize their most important asset: i.e, their staff -- the people. Attracting, retaining, and engaging the right talent to fuel your organization to success is challenging—we get it. But it's not impossible!

At Rehovot Educational Consulting, we offer online and onsite training and coaching in a variety of relevant educational topics to your staff, teachers, administrators and practitioners, to maximize and leverage the power of talent and mastery. We also have specific intervention training, coaching and tutoring for students, especially GENX students.

Our Products

We have a wide range of products which include; educational apps, educational customized products, textbooks and learning maps, children's fiction and non-fiction books in kindle, audio and traditional paper-back, creative manuals and concept papers for educators, administrators and entrepreneurs, and GenNext (STEM) educational learning products.

We effectively lead our clients and customers to acquire 21st century and beyond skills and educational competencies.

Getting Ahead of 2020 and beyond

Most educational leaders want to increase productivity at their organizations. But that doesn't mean they know how to make it happen. Most are unsure where productivity opportunities exist, and when they do, they tend to take on too much, too quickly, addressing the symptoms and not the root cause. This is true today when relentlessly advancing digital technologies. As educators, an unprecedented pace of change makes us feel busier than ever. We often attribute volume with efficiency and mere activity with productivity, all while a nagging feeling persists. We've hit a plateau, and to really move forward we've got to do something differently. But what? Let Rehovot help you do this.

Rehovot Educational Consulting specializes in providing training and services that equip educators for effective digital-production and management skills. Our training and coaching equip educators with competencies that will move them beyond "time" into "forward think strategies" and solutions for students. Transitioning from merely a classroom management mind-set to engaging Gen NEXT students, requires a "peculiar" and "intentional" mind-shift. Immersive digital technology and instruction engages the learner in an unusual and deeper dimension than before. Most educators need this competency, in order to thrive and impact our next century of learners. Our virtual and augmented reality coaching and training sessions prepare educators to embark on this journey and emphasizes the all-important STEM approach to teaching and learning.

Driving Digital Transformation

Digital transformation is fundamentally altering education. From K-12 to Higher education, students' expectations in and out of the classroom are changing, educational models are being upended, and the pace at which technology is advancing, demands unprecedented professional agility.

To keep up, educational leaders and practitioners can approach "digital" as more than just a catch-all buzzword that only applies to certain segments of their work or as the latest tool, or some futuristic state. The future is "here" and "now" and even though digital requires comprehensive change, a practical course of action is possible. But how?

Rehovot Educational Consulting specializes in providing systematic and relevant training and coaching in digital empowerment skills especially in the areas of Virtual Reality and Augmented reality Learning.
